Many years ago there was a small quiet village surrounded by mountains. It was a village of merchants. People used to sell animals like hens and pigs, spices like pepper and salt and fabrics that women made by hand. There also was a beautiful river where the animals liked to drink fresh water and where the kids of the village enjoyed playing around. But one day something strange happened, the beautiful river was running out of water, and the animals and plants would die. The kids were very worried, especially Jacob, who was always taking care of the environment. Suddenly an old man appeared and came with a solution to save the river and all the living things that surrounded it. But it was not an easy solution because Jacob would need to reveal a secret. A secret that had been in his family for decades and one which he promised not to say. Read this amazing kids picture book to find out whether Jacob revealed his family secret in order to protect the river and nature.
