An excerpt from the book: ISFPs make up only 2% of leaders worldwide. This is mainly because ISFPs are laid-back individuals who dislike strict procedures and rigid working environments. As an ISFP, you find managerial positions uncomfortable and restricting. This does not mean that ISFPs do not have what it takes to become excellent leaders. In fact, when you find a project that is personally significant to you, you have no problems stepping up and taking charge. When this happens, your core characteristics make you indispensable. Your quiet and introverted nature can help you build good working relationships with your subordinates. Whereas most leaders come off as domineering and overbearing, you are seen as supportive and approachable. Your overall demeanor fosters trust and cooperation among the members of your team.

Your approach to leadership is democratic. You invite all members of your team to provide input and suggestions so that you can collectively decide on a course of action.
